SCCI Session at WTO Public Forum 2006

The anniversary marked the important role that the WTO has played in creating a level playing field in international trade relations, continuing the mission of GATT of 1947.

Moreover, the session highlighted the need to design the global trading system with the widest participation of all WTO members and communities that would be affected by the outcomes, particularly the poorest and most marginalized. The SCCI President, Dasho Ugen Tsechup Dorji addressed the session and stated that the South Asian countries have a strong desire to bring the WTO negotiations back on track.

However, over the past few years, the progress of WTO has been unstable. After you update, please come back and you will be able to view our site. The multilateral trading system is yours, please help us in shaping it your way! Recently, the Doha talks have been postponed over which the South Asian business community is disappointed.

Should WTO look like the organization that we already know? In its 10 years, the WTO has acted as a forum in which Members could discuss their trade relations, negotiate new trade rules and settle their trade disputes. This session addressed the concerns of both developing and least developing countries LDCs with special interest of the private sector regarding the WTO negotiations.

WTO

The WTO is designed to serve your interests; it is to you that it must answer. It provided useful insights about what should be done to move forward with the negotiations and reconcile the differences and conflicting interests of the developed and developing countries to promote a multilateral trading system and overall global development. The Annual WTO Public Forum 2006 was held from September 25-27, 2006 at the WTO headquarters in Geneva.
