Province of Manitoba

Emily Stowe, the first Canadian woman to practise medicine in Canada.

Francophones of Manitoba

The Saskatchewan River Valley and the parklands of the central Prairies contain good water and soil resources, and they are well-treed — an asset from a log-house building perspective and with regard to fuel.

Canadian Citizenship Test: Timeline of the Events

The journey takes three days: leaving on Tuesday morning, you arrive in on Wednesday afternoon, Jasper on Thursday afternoon, and on Friday morning. There appears to be a desire on the part of most of the scrip-holders to dispose of it, as they do not appreciate its value and have no inclination for farming. After this time much effort was spent to further upgrade the railroad to handle heavier trains and increase track speeds heavier rail, ballasting, steel bridges in place of wood, etc.

Confederation, 1867

Great Britain naturally desired to receive military help from the colonies, and again Laurier found a compromise that satisfied neither the pro-British faction nor the French partisans. After a strenuous journey over the most rugged terrain on the continent, Mackenzie and his companions at last crossed the to reach the Fraser River in 1793. The Brandon Sun lauded the efforts of the volunteers: Called upon to leave comfortable homes and more or less lucrative business relations they without faltering or wavering at dangers or hardships were ever ready to do or die for their beloved country.
