Why Bible

Seek to get into a flow that protects and supports you - being alert to that healthy ones don't need Jesus - says Jesus. And although the statistics vary, most researchers conclude that over one third of married men in the USA will cheat on their wives and that nearly a quarter of all married wives will cheat on their husbands in the States. You cannot condemn certain aspects of life, claiming 'Biblical authority' and then eat 'Black Pudding' and Black Pudding is delicious! And if you find yourself confined or an underling of persons who make stupid mistakes in the name of God, it is not a mistake not to trust them.

Why Bible

Is traditional blood food at Christmas-time - blood pudding, blood sausages, Brat, Wurst and all of it - a secret gateway to horrors or not? The Apostolic Decree says: Abstain from consuming blood, and said it was from them all and the Ghost - Acts 15:28-29. The council decided that Gentile converts to Christianity did not have to keep most of the Mosaic law, including the rules about circumcising males.

Blood Food among Christians

This book looks like it could have been run off on an old Gestetner duplicator anyone of a certain age in the Church will remember these monstrosities. Is that the most relevant question? Judged from the Bible, for a Christian to enjoy a hearty meal that contains blood food - including some sorts of hamburgers that contain blood protein - could enrage the Ghost of Acts 15 and Acts 21:25.

Why Bible

Wild men learnt, too late Blood pudding was not to be on the plate. Instead, further a constructive fare, and refrain from being carried away by hillbilly enthusiasm for blood food around a Danish Christmas table, among others.

Blood Food among Christians

Is siding with the Bible and eating blood food something you can commit yourself to? Gentile take-overs Peter had a vision on a flat roof of a house in Joppa Jaffa. Also, the New Testament says absolutely nothing about the Use of Sunday. Pork was now okay, but blood was not - the old blood commandment from Leviticus 7:26 and 17:10 was still to be obeyed.
