The following have been curates and vicars :— 1742 Anthony Weatherhead, M. The deans of Whalley probably held it together with the principal church, and in 1296 it was described as a chapel only, its altarage being worth as much as 20 marks a year, and the tithes of its district—Burnley, Cliviger, Worsthorne, Extwistle, Briercliffe, Habergham and Ightenhill—amounting to 49½ marks, or £46 6 s. This is now Queen's Park.

In a petition of the inhabitants in 1588 it was alleged that the duchy allowance had ceased in 1566, after which, for over twenty years, no minister officiated; they asked for a continuance of the pension and the appointment of a curate, to be nominated by three justices of the peace dwelling near the chapel. One can also notice the set mate 1. He had gone on this trip with his fiancée, Mrs Jenkin, and her son, Captain Guy Jenkin.

Water costs explained Water consumption is based on average water usage for the predicted occupancy of the property based on the number of bedrooms. I decided that it was not for me and decided also to join the RAF in late 1955. It stood on the north side of the town, and was a small two-story gabled gritstone building F-shaped in plan, probably of 16th-century date, the shorter arm forming the porch, which went up the full height of the building.

The end-wings had originally hipped roofs, but in a later restoration stone gables were substituted and a projecting central one-story porch added. Later it was held by a family who had taken a surname from it.

Townships: Burnley

The Towneleys were usually farmers of the mills, and numerous disputes occurred as to the suit to these mills. .
