After Harvey: Poems from the flood

But I was but a lone grasshopper under the institutional boots of hospital red tape and the U's ever reaching hands Fighting day and night for the futureless against the cahoots of insurance self interest and plagiarizing colleges demands. In Queensland there were 35 deaths this year so far as reported on the news last week.

Langston Hughes: Poems Quotes and Analysis

But if it had to perish twice, I think I know enough of hate To say that for destruction ice Is also great And would suffice. The elder Hughes came to feel a deep dislike and revulsion for other African-Americans. Sometimes there's so many words and they get so crowded in my skull I think my head is gonna explode.

The poem

So why not enjoy the first draft, in the hope that your joy will seek and find others in the world who, by reading your story, will catch fire, too? Apart from the ones who may get immunised against them. There are no surfards there, I know it.

Language and the Long Poem: On Everything and Other Poems by Charles North

We'll add our favorites here. When the poet embarks on a long poem without knowing where he is going, language is his only guide. But I was thirsty and the banks closed, and I was hungry and my pockets crested empty.

Four Poems by Eve Ewing

According to some accounts, by 1940, Harlem had the largest West Indian urban population outside of Kingston, Jamaica. For others, the patterns will be familiar, perhaps even as the preferred pattern of a favorite writer in my case, W.

Explode A Poem

Of course we wish that there was no racial violence to commemorate.

Out Comes Love, Mother's Day Poem

Before he was 12 years old he had lived in six different American cities.
