Millionaire hotelier Peter de Savary's five

The granite dates to 268—275 million years ago of the.

Peter De Savary: The Masterplanner...

But in the economic downturn of the early 1990s his empire collapsed, and he was forced to sell both Land's End and John O' Groats in 1991 for an undisclosed sum to the businessman Graham Ferguson Lacey. He was married to first wife Ivana at the time. The westernmost promontory at Land's End is known as Dr Syntax's Head.

PETER DE SAVARY

I realised there was something of real intrigue for me. I always look for a unique setting — think of a picture, the picture itself is the most important thing, but the framing is also extremely important. If ever there was one UK property entrepreneur who epitomised the good times and the bad times in the UK property sector over the last 40 years it has to be the infamous Peter de Savary, the man behind a thousand investments, the face of Hello magazine and the man who has quite literally been there, done it, worn the t-shirt and gone back for another one.

Princess Margaret: Inside her Private Island Life on Mustique

He saw no houses, no chaises or annoying little drinks with umbrellas in them — just gray-weathered driftwood, shells, tangles of sea grapes and palmettos.

On board with celebrity sailing yacht owner Pete Townshend

He also once owned the luxury yacht MY Land's End.

Golf TI

The boat was America pictured above, a schooner that was to lend its name to the oldest international trophy in sport. And then our next efforts were thwarted because you were in Rhode Island on Narragansett Bay and difficult to reach.
