Nautical fiction

The bonus album compliments the original album perfectly, and the reworked songs Like Birds Fly By Flapping Their Wings v2 are extremely enjoyable takes on their original versions.

Preface to A Century of Sea Stories

The first book, , deals with a film crew commissioned to slap together a prime-time documentary on mermaids.

A Century Of Sea Stories (Xmas 1936)

Dive into: The theology of the Drowned God is laid out in , the fourth installment in the A Song of Ice and Fire series. Dive into: The Meg is the center of a science-fiction horror series by Steve Alten. Supposedly the largest-ever member of his species, he terrifies sailors with his intelligence as well as his size, using brutal surprise tactics to splinter up their boats — and bite off their limbs.
