Treaties in Force

Medvin has also served as an advisor to the local Police Department on legal issues in the use of force in the performance of police duties. WY Stat § 6-2-602 1997 through Reg Sess a A person is presumed to have held a reasonable fear of imminent peril of death or serious bodily injury to himself or another when using defensive force that is intended or likely to cause death or serious bodily injury to another if: i The intruder against whom the defensive force was used was in the process of unlawfully and forcefully entering, or had unlawfully and forcibly entered, another's home or habitation or, if that intruder had removed or was attempting to remove another against his will from his home or habitation; and ii The person who uses defensive force knew or had reason to believe that an unlawful and forcible entry or unlawful and forcible act was occurring. For the federal government, this begins on October 1 and ends on September 30.

Labor Laws and Issues

In the case of private Acts, the hardcover edition is likely the final publication, since most private Acts are rarely consolidated or revised.

In such a case, no inference of malice can be drawn from the fact that he armed himself. Whenever possible, cite the official code for statutes currently in force although note that it's best to use the unofficial code versions for research.

Use of Force Standards

A citation of an official or unofficial code includes the following components: 1 the title number; 2 the abbreviated name of the code; 3 the section numbers in which the act is codified; and 4 the year of the cited code edition not the year the act was passed. Sometimes, provisions of a statute can't come into force unless a proclamation is issued by the Lieutenant Governor.
