Timing Since college entrance exams have a time limit, you should start the habit of timing yourself while taking practice tests. The revised SAT returns to a 1,600 point scale from a 2,400 point scale by making the essay portion optional like the ACT, although the scoring is different. The College Board says taking rigorous course work and studying readily available materials and practice tests on their website will allow any student to succeed, and that the redesigned SAT will reveal whether students have the skills and knowledge to succeed in college and in their careers.
