Solar eclipse of June 30, 1954

This body, whose existence had never been scientifically established, had been predicted by the French astronomer L. Professor Williams traveled to what is now Penobscot Bay in Maine, where the British naval officer in charge of the area allowed him to land long enough to make his observations. If you will not be in the DC area but are close to the path of totality throughout the United States, we encourage you to find a local viewing event in your area.

Solar eclipse of June 30, 1954

If the orbit of the Moon were exactly within the same plane as the orbit of the Earth around the Sun, then total or annular solar eclipses would occur every lunar month. So we are the beneficiaries of a wonderful cosmic coincidence.
