The Parish of St Mel's and Other Verses [by John O'Brien, 1954]

Some light marking and sunning. And people down the town I meet — I recollect the face But never seem to strike the name, and say things out of place, Forgetting things and muddling things, the memory moving slow, But clear on little trifling things that happened years ago; Old names come who fought with me the struggles of the past, And those who rallied round me first are nearest at the last. The hill is getting steeper now each day as I begin To trudge home with the paper when the Sydney train comes in.

The Pastor of St Mel's [poem by John O'Brien, 1954]

A lovely little book of poetry.

. My study was my sanctum once-a castle all my own- But this one with her natty ways can't leave the place alone. Beige boards with red lettering on the spine and front.

AUSTRALIAN BUSH POETRY BOOK COLLECTION

Listing of the Private Collection of Gary Harding These selective works comprise books of Traditional Australian Ballads produced in the latter part of the Nineteenth through to the middle of the Twentieth Centuries. Through the example of St Mary of the Cross Mackillop, students are called to be people of action and believe they have the capacity to change the world. The two distinct parishes of Templemichael and of Ballymacormack had been linked to other surrounding parishes in the diocese before the current parish was formed.

JOY AND SADNESS TO CHRISTEN PARISH

This feat has never been equalled by any other Gaelic football team in history. By 1917, the Sister of St Joseph had established a convent onsite.

The Parish of St Mel's [poem by John O'Brien, 1954]

Edward was instrumental in both establishing and naming the new parish.
