Susanna Moodie

Through these moving reflections, we see one life laid bare--joys, sorrows, regrets, and all. In 1853, she published Life in the Clearings Versus the Bush, about her time in Belleville.

I made an interesting discovery while falling further and further down various rabbit-holes this morning: a previously-undocumented early spirit communication device. On 4 April 1831, she married John Moodie, a retired officer who had served in the Napoleonic Wars. She studied the Family Compact and became sympathetic to the moderate reformers led by Robert Baldwin, while remaining critical of radical reformers such as William Lyon Mackenzie.
