A Call for An Alternative Deep Time of the Media

Uncovering these moments in the media-archaeological record, Zielinski says, brings us into a new relationship with present-day moments; these discoveries in the deep time media history shed light on today's media landscape and may help us map our expedition to the media future. This also implies that authors who deviate too much from these recommendations are asked to restructure or rewrite the article. Clarified some Foucault but overall this seems more a compendium of neat technology than a theoretical meditation on anything.

I want to speculate with a more geologically oriented notion of depth of media that is interested in truly deep times — of thousands, millions, billions of years and in depth of the earth; A media excavation into the mineral and raw material basis of technological development, through which to present some media historical arguments as to how one might adopt a material perspective in terms of ecological temporality. A brilliant study on the subtext of European history of technology and science. Medienwissenschaft: Teil 5: Fiktion als Fakt.

Custance.

Siegfried Zielinski argues that the history of the media does not proceed predictably from primitive tools to complex machinery; in Deep Time of the Media, he illuminates turning points of media history - fractures in the predictable - that help us see the new in the old. Zbig Rybczynski, Filmmaker Alex Adriaansens Deep Time of the Media is a revealing book that only Siegfried Zielinski could have written. Artifacts of the Arabic-Islamic Renaissance 800—1200, Ostfildern: Hatje Cantz, 2015, ed.

A Call for An Alternative Deep Time of the Media

Deep Time of the Media: Toward an Archaeology of Hearing and Seeing by Technical Means, Zielinski, Siegfried. Perhaps an alternative sort of a deep time of the media is needed — one that does not excavate deep times of human inventions, successful or just imagined, but deep times of animal and geological sort, and the cultural techniques that are affiliated with such non-human regimes? The reliability of Shehzad's research would definitely have benefited from selecting articles from a few different journals or societies.
