It is true that, by reason of the large number of graduates then resident, political questions were more fully discussed and possibly better understood in Oxford than in most towns : but the news-letters, public and private, which came to Oxford were no doubt identical with those received in other county and market towns, so that Wood's notes exemplify the political knowledge then accessible to lawyer, and parson, and squire, in all considerable centres of population. Lazarus, Anthony a Woode, the fourth sonne of Thomas Woode and Mary his wife, was borne at Portionists' or Postmasters' haule in S.
