

Industrial structure and labour market segmentation - urban and regional implications

Centre for Urban and Regional Research, University of Glasgow - Skilled labour shortages and wage 'roll

Description: -

-
Commercial law -- China -- Cases.
Commercial law -- China.
Civil law -- China -- Cases.
Civil law -- China.
Law reform -- China.
World Trade Organization.
Labor supply, industrial structure and labour market segmentation - urban and regional implications
-
Urban and regional discussion papers -- no.32 industrial structure and labour market segmentation - urban and regional implications
Notes: Includes bibliography.
This edition was published in 1980

Filesize: 69.71 MB

Tags: #Urban #Labour #Market

Dual economy

Labor market segmentation and income inequality in urban China. Private and public sector wages in Bulgaria.

Economic Segmentation and Health Inequalities in Urban Post

Thus, even if they were born in, for example, Beijing, their parents would have to go to rural areas to obtain the birth certificates and have their names included in the hukou family registration books, which record various family events including births, deaths, marriages, and divorces, and complementary data such as permanent place of residence.

Work

In model 2 of Table , we only include region and industry covariates to examine how social structural factors affect average individual income. Therefore, as in China, it is not surprising to see a massive flow of labour migration, reducing agriculture employment from 64 per cent in 2001 to 55 per cent in 2006. The model is a game between the firm and a worker with the following order of play in each round: 1 The firm offers a wage w .

Industrial structure, trade and regional economics : market segmentation

The sample is limited to urban Chinese employees between the ages of 18 and 55 who were active in the labor force.

Labor market segmentation by industry sectors and wage gaps between migrants and local urban residents in urban China

In total, CFPS2010 interviewed 33,600 individuals aged 16 and above.

Labor market segmentation by industry sectors and wage gaps between migrants and local urban residents in urban China

This framework stimulated several empirical studies of these relationships, yielding insights into changing intergenerational correlations involving occupations and income, changes in the degree of social mobility, changes in the role of education in fostering mobility, and changes in mobility patterns between whites and nonwhites.

Regional segregation or industrial monopoly? Dual labor market segmentation and income inequality in China

By contrast, in the secondary labor market, jobs are often underpaid, less secure, and with little opportunity for career advancement Cain ; Kalleberg and Sorensen. During the rest of the year, there are much less employment opportunities for rural than urban households, with the former working about half the time worked by urban households during the low season June and July.

Economic Segmentation and Health Inequalities in Urban Post

Please note that corrections may take a couple of weeks to filter through the various RePEc services.

Related Books

- Avisens historie i de lande der skabte den - England, Frankrig, Tyskland og USA
- Nude - a study in ideal form
- Comparative and investigative study examining quantitative and qualitative measures in first of all,
- Fra notturni sereni - le azioni sacre del Metastasio
- Origins of the Cold War, 1941-1949