He would be standing, probably bent over while tracking Kennedy left to right, and he would be facing the street, which could be why Brennan and others have testified to seeing someone at the window.

1963: 11 Seconds in Dallas

Most who argue for a frontal head shot cite the rearward protrusion as proof of a shot from the front at Z-313.

1963: 11 Seconds in Dallas

He told Lifton that the head goes forward. Into this account Thompson weaves his own eventful journey, that of a Yale-educated scholar who in 1976 resigned his tenured professorship in philosophy to become a private investigator in San Francisco, developing a national reputation. The way to analyse this case is to forget about the equivocal parts of the film and see what the rest of the evidence indicates.

I understood, if vaguely, that his experience held not only information about the assassination but also clues about Abe Zapruder, clues that no one else would notice or look for but that were substance for the mental picture I wanted to create of him. New York : Bernard Geis Associates, 1967. They Are Going to Kill US ALL! It is therefore highly unlikely that Zapruder would display a startle reaction at the same time the bullet hit the body.
