Local Plan 2018

When complete, Northstowe will have up to 10,000 homes and an anticipated population of around 24,000 people.

Current applications: Corby

The system, actually, remains virtually the same.

Planning

For the sake of completeness, it should be mentioned that there is a further strip of land, area D, which lies behind areas A and B, which was occupied by the first defendant in 2000 but was later found to belong to the neighbouring golf club.

The health of our chalk streams is crucial to improving biodiversity. Additional breaches of planning control not covered by the enforcement notices were identified: as regards area B, these included storage of a mobile home, motor vehicles including cars, lorries, vans, construction vehicles, trailers, fuel storage tanks, disused chest freezers, a Nissen hut and the construction of the east-west access road; as regards area C, the breaches included the sale of motor vehicles and the construction of the new road.

However, after two further hearings it was realised that SCDC ought not to rely further on its decision of 15 February 2012, because of steps which the first defendant had taken to comply if that is the word with the two enforcement notices.

A number of questions were asked, which were answered by the first defendant on 20 September 2009 from his address at 136 Perne Road, Cambridge. She said a system is in place to listen to the concerns of parish councils in the process, and said she recognised their contribution.

On the issue of sustainability, the storage and sale of motor vehicles was not a use that needed to be located in the countryside, and was therefore contrary to planning policy. Phase 1 of Northstowe gives permission for 1,500 homes and is under construction. For that reason, the order includes a liberty to apply, but the first defendant should understand that compelling written evidence, served with proper notice to SCDC, would be required before the court would contemplate granting an extension of time.

Planning

On the other side of the argument, it may place an undue burden on decision-makers; demand an appearance of unanimity where there is diversity; call for the articulation of sometimes inexpressible value judgments; and offer an invitation to the captious to comb the reasons for previously unsuspected grounds of challenge. Entirely properly, the authors of the first report considered the personal circumstances of the first defendant, upon which as mentioned above in the event he addressed the committee.
