Mars at night: How to see the Red Planet at night all month long

After a spectacular 2018, Mars was mostly faint throughout 2019. At sunset, Mars rises on the eastern horizon at exactly the same time during this period.

In Depth

Mars is the fourth planet from the Sun and the second smallest after Mercury.

Stunning photos of Mars as it makes close approach to Earth

The tilted orbital path of Mars in relation to Earth. If that were true, we'd be in big trouble given the gravitational pulls on Earth, Mars, and our Moon! Mars will be brighter than either of them! Today, water on Mars is found in the form of water-ice just under the surface in the polar regions as well as in briny salty water, which seasonally flows down some hillsides and crater walls. ### Mars Opposition 2020: Where and When to See The Red Planet

Mars will be closer to Earth than usual. Wherever you are in the world, look south for the Moon, and the little orange-red dot you see near it will be Mars.

Mars Landing: How To Watch As Mars Aligns With The Moon Just As NASA Lands A Rover On The 'Red Planet'

It should be visible for most of the night. Close Approach: Mars Hoax However, don't be fooled by the Mars Hoax! For people in the US, it will give you a preview of what to look for after sundown. This is a perfect time to track Mars' movement across the sky.
