Beef and cattle are on the rise

ROLLING PLAINS Another round of storms delivered 2-3 inches of rainfall to Baylor County, while Motley County reported 4 inches in two days and many fields under water. Continuous triple digit temperatures were good for cotton growth.

Beef and cattle are on the rise

Cotton was in good condition. Crop growth stages were behind schedule, and stands were thinner than usual. Grain sorghum was being replanted in some areas.

Cattle

Beef exports are down, but imports are down more.

Live Cattle Today

Filesize: 8.42 MB

Wheat harvest was wrapping up, and hay cutting and baling continued. Cotton was emerging at acceptable rates. Trace amounts of rainfall were reported in some areas, and Grimes County reported good rainfall.

Beef

Once they have reached this weight they are sold to special cattle breeders who bring the calves up to a mast weight of between 600 and 800 pounds over the next 2 to 4 months.

Retail beef remain high going into summer

Livestock were in good condition, and spring-born calves were doing well. Pastures continued to decline with increased temperatures and a lack of moisture. Sorghum looked excellent and was now at coloring stage.

Live Cattle Today

Travis County reported that wheat harvest was progressing slower than expected. A slightly cooler, wetter weather trend was in the forecast. This wide crop progress range was reflective of weather and soil conditions.

Beef

This would not place further reporting burden on packers as AMS Market News already receives data from beef packers on both a company and plant basis, broken down by purchase type, including negotiated cash sales. Some pecan trees started to bud and leaf out. However, all rallied as total of beef supplies diminished with closures and partial operations.
