Her assignment was to gather information about the day-to-day toll the Depression was exacting on individual citizens. Hickok then worked in Minneapolis and New York, but was unsuccessful in such a big city and was fired after just a month. She stayed with the Minneapolis Tribune, where she was given opportunities unusual for a female reporter.

I just want your own reaction, as an ordinary citizen. In 1929, the stock market crashed in the worst economic collapse in American history. When the Great Depression hit the Delta, Johnson had already spent his entire life struggling to make ends meet.

Works About Eleanor Roosevelt: Biographies, Articles and Secondary Sources

For most Americans, at most times in American history, the economy has provided real opportunity for real individual success. One by one, sometimes bold, sometimes hesitant , sometimes demanding, sometimes faltering , they emerged—individuals.

Maurine H. Beasley Books

One Third of a Nation is her record, underscored by the eloquent photographs of Dorothea Lange, Walker Evans, and others, of the shocking plight of millions of unemployed and dispossessed Americans.
