Canadian youth

Even with gains since 2010, Hispanic adults remain than White, Asian and Black adults to earn a college degree and are underrepresented among STEM degree recipients. The lessons build on one another and cover the origins of the internet, binary code, an introduction to programming languages and coding, deconstructing a computer and other skills. We need recovery strategies that embrace all of these perspectives.

The two

To date, relatively little research has been conducted on visible minority offenders under the supervision of the correctional system in Canada.

Sybil Shack fonds

The pandemic shutdown forced a reality check: for many, all that time spent in the gym was more luxury than necessity The pandemic forced a culture shift on government, proving that red tape really can be cut Denying systemic racism is no longer tenable.

NetNewsLedger

Native American, Native Hawaiian, Pacific Islander and people who identify with two or more racial groups account for 3% of STEM workers. Since 2016, the White share of employment has declined in all STEM occupation clusters, mirroring the general decrease in the White share of employment over all occupations.
