Alaska Native Education—Entering the 21st Century Native American education, and Alaska Native education, have histories that are complex and tightly interwoven. Report card to the public: A summary of statistics from Alaska's public schools: School Year 1998-99. From its unofficial beginning as the Continental Colors or Grand Union flag to the long serving 50-star American Flag, Americans have been on a quest to protect, preserve and serve the flag.

OO Design Patterns

As you would imagine, there aren't many in Alaska.

Early Human Migration

The visor protected the paddler's eyes from the glare of the sky and sun and made it easier to see clearly over the open water. Between 40,000 and 12,000 years ago, humans moved north into Europe.

Alaska

The complex flexible interior wooden frame of the kayak is also shown in detail. This becomes evident when considering the impact of land and resource decisions upon the programs and policies in Alaska education following the passage of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act in 1971.

Aleut (Unangan) Ethnography

Restricted by budgetary limitations and anxious to increase the percentage of pupils in school, the Branch of Education juggled students to fit spaces, regardless of the effect on the students themselves. Alaska Natives Commission, 1994, Forward The Commission, comprised almost entirely of Alaska Native people, produced a four volume Final Report 1994 designed to serve as a blueprint for changes regarding the way in which the federal and state governments dealt with Alaska Native issues.

Village Community: Definition, Evolution and Growth

The policies of the BIA and territory schools attended by many Alaska Native adults forbade students to speak their Native languages and did not allow for a curriculum that reflected anything Alaskan, American Indian, or Alaska Native.

Oomingmak

Make sure your seams are nesting nicely together.

Ravelry: KnittingDaddy's Alaska Hat

I have seen some of them as transparent as oiled paper, through which you could trace every formation of the inside, and the manner of the natives sitting in it; whose light dress, painted and plumed bonnet, together with his perfect ease and activity, added infinitely to its elegance. The non-profit corporations now annually administer over one hundred million dollars for education, health, employment, and social programs in their respective regions. It had seats for 16 rowers but could accomodate many more passengers and cargo.
