Palestinian nationalism

The PLO has established across-the-board conscription for all the Palestinian men between the ages of 18 and 30. In 1948, became an independent state, which resulted in more than 750,000 Palestinians fleeing their homeland. The disturbances initially spontaneous soon came under local leadership from groups and organizations loyal to the PLO that operated within the Occupied Territories; Fatah, the , the and the.

PLO

The hardships of their present lives were masked with evocations of their lost homeland. Many of those who had taken refuge in Egypt were returned to Gaza, which remained under Egyptian military rule until 1967. New York: Bloomsbury Publishing, pp.

Palestinian Refugees in Egypt

Palestinians in Egypt

In 1988, the PLO officially endorsed a two-state solution, with Israel and Palestine living side by side contingent on specific terms such as making capital of the Palestinian state and giving Palestinians the to land occupied by Palestinians prior to the 1948 and 1967 wars with Israel. Sullivan, El Sayed Yassin, Ali Leila, Monte Palmer. The PLO also exercises extradition powers, as on many occasions Arab governments have turned over to the PLO Palestinians charged with criminal activities.

Palestinian nationalism

Far from uniting behind the Palestinian cause as words might indicate, every Arab state in practice discriminated against Palestinians living in its midst and had differing slants upon the PLO. Oslo Accords The First Intifada, a Palestinian uprising against Israeli occupation of the West Bank and Gaza, started in 1987 and ended around 1991. As a result, the PLO is able to maintain three military forces.
