Cultural Clusters: Mapping Cultural Distance

To the extent that people see a difference, however, men are generally seen as having more of an influence than women when it comes to decisions about household finances, while women are generally seen as having more influence when it comes to decisions about raising children. In other rural areas people display status by building modern houses of stone and tile, with precious glass windows.

Indonesia had joined the in 1953, which also continued throughout the conflict.

Australia

In general, societies with strong descent groups, such as the Batak, eschew divorce and it is very rare. Handshakes are appropriate between men, but with a soft touch and between Muslims with the hand then lightly touching the heart. East Europe has higher scores for Being Orientation, Gender Egalitarianism, Collectivism, Future Orientation, and Restraint, and lower scores for Uncertainty Avoidance.
