Romance

ENGL 403 : Students work in small groups under the supervision of a faculty researcher on an ongoing, large-scale, digital design project.

Modern Poetry

Like the rondeau and the rondel, the roundel uses only two rhymes and a twice-repeated refrain. Prerequisite: minimum of 18 university credits.

Romanticism & Contemporary Culture

ENGL 295 : This course surveys the popular social media landscape and charts scholarly approaches, both methodological and theoretical, to understanding and analyzing social media texts. ENGL 495B : Senior Honours Essay will be completed under supervision.

Course Descriptions and Offerings

No single book can hope to deal comprehensively with such a wide-ranging and complex topic as the interaction of religion and literature across several countries over a period of nearly two hundred and fifty years. Most literary historians think of the as a type of novel originating in seventeenth-century France in works like Madame de Scudéry's Le Grand Cyrus 1649-53 and Clélie 1656-60. This intermittent success tends to come with a sense of the grandeur of nature, which is why so much great romantic poetry is about nature in its most intense aspects: those of beauty, solitude, and most of all, the sublime.

Definition and Discussion of Enlightenment Rhetoric

ENGL 200B : An historical survey of major figures, types, and trends in British literature from the late 18th century to the present. Students may not retain credit for both ENGL 3256 and ENGL 3706.
