Many students of economics and taxation favor the complete exemption of all improvements in or on the land and other natural resources from taxation. A short time since the Governors of the States of Ohio and Michigan and the Mayor of Chicago were requested by the Pittsburgh Citizens' Committee for the relief of the Johnstown flood sufferers, to appoint a Commission to examine the accounts of the moneys received and disbursed by them.

The entire confidence of the house was reposed in him, and he frequently had under his sole control immense sums of money which had been entrusted to the custody of the firm. Had the cost of government remained low as in 1914, it would have been rather an easy matter to transfer all the municipal tax to land values and to exempt improvements completely. The latter will probably prove to be the quicker and more effective under present circumstances.

Nine children were born to the couple, their third son, Benjamin, becoming the father of the present Robert M.

Proceedings of the Board of Regents (1901)

He referred to the odious featureurs of the Northern States, which disfranchised the colored man, and argued that our duty was to correct public opinion, rather than to demand, or appeal to Congress; for both Congress and the President elect, he believed would be found willing and anxious to obey the will of the people. The acquisition of wealth is nothing to him save as a means of giving material form and practical force to his projects for the uplifting of humanity.
