The eggs are all ovate.

Biodiversity in Trinidad & Tobago

Family: The Threskiornithidae is a family of large terrestrial and wading birds which includes the and.

Endangered species of Trinidad

On the basis of vocal differences, important morphological differences in plumage, body size, and measurements, and extensive field observations and reciprocal playback experiments, we conclude that our examples from the southern Orinoco delta represent a new species, which we propose to name: Thripophaga amacurensis sp.
