Christianity; the Logic of Creation

There are numerous books of religion, ancient and modern, but their cosmogonies do not contain any account at all of the creation of the universe. The critic is reasoning in a vicious circle.

The Logic of Biblical Creation

Can You Have Logic Without Laws? If they cannot, then we must resort to completed supernatural processes to explain the origin of at least the basic systems of the cosmos.

Numerous kinds of extinct animals are found e. I am not being unscientific, but asking more questions and being skeptical is being more scientific. This fact is also confirmed by the best-proved laws of science -- the law of conservation in quantity and the law of decay in complexity, or the famous First and Second Laws of Thermodynamics.

The Logic of Biblical Creation

No effect can be greater than its cause.

The Logic of Biblical Creation

Another law is called the law of identity, where something is actually the same with itself and different from another, or not something different than itself. Therefore, He is fully capable of revealing to us knowledge about His creation -- knowledge which could never be learned through studying present processes. I am still working on these, so please help with your comments.

The formulae provide the relationships, but there must be basic ideas available for the formulae to analyze. Many religions reject that Jesus is the God-man because they start with Gnosticism the physical is evil; the spiritual is good. Only Genesis even attempts to tell how the universe itself came to be.

Laws of Logic

By definition, evolution should still be occurring now, since it is to be explained by present processes.
