House Officer Benefits

Advertising on our site helps support our mission. We also have an LSU NMPRA resident representative selected annually to serve as liaison for our institution. Who are your most inspirational endocrinologists? This evaluation will assess overall clinical competence as reflected by the following subcategories: patient care, medical knowledge, clinical skills, communication skills, professionalism, participation in rounds and presentation of journal club.

Embracing the diversity of endocrinology: an interview with Dr Alexander Comminos

Residents should be able to interpret common endocrine testing and understand how the results relate to specific endocrine illnesses. The final evaluation is entered through and a summary performance assessment is discussed in a meeting with the house officer.

LSU Health Sciences Center provides disability insurance for all residents. With increasing patient use of social media and the internet in general sometimes misinforming patients, we have to ensure that we provide clear and accurate information to patients and address their concerns. Professionalism Establish trust with endocrine patients and staff; exhibit honesty, reliability and responsibility in patient care; demonstrate respect for patients, staff and medical students who you are supervising; work with the team to fulfill the needs of the endocrine patients; work closely with the Endocrine fellow to care for the patients; understand limitations and ask supervisors for help when indicated; accept assignments graciously; attend conferences.

How do you think your field of research will change in the future? One day I may be running our endocrine bone clinic, the next day I could be on call for acute medicine, or analysing data and finishing a research paper, lecturing and tutoring undergraduates, or meeting my PhD students. Additional personal policies may be purchased at the discretion of House Officers based on their perceived need. In addition, although we are hopefully emerging from the COVID-19 pandemic, an element of remote medicine is clearly here to stay.
