Yet some propositions may be already evident to the self, that is, self-evident. Some religious believe also at least some of us possess a reliably functioning god-sense or sensus-divinitatis by means of which the Judeo-Christian God reveals himself. And other people--really deep intellectual thinkers--have been pointing this out from the Social Science side, is that science has a tendency to go towards a religion.

Science and Scientism in Biology: The Origin of Morality

The views expressed are those of the author s and are not necessarily those of Scientific American.

All other things, our powers, our desires, our food, are all really necessary for our existence in the first instance. The proper province of those sciences lies this side of the veil.

What is Scientism?

Tony Fauci right now is sitting there thinking. How.
