Boleh (yacht)

That takes some experience in knowing where to look for silver though. Roy loved the outdoors, especially being on the water.

MS St. Louis

The plan was thwarted by a severe typhoon and the Second World War. John Illingworth, in his important book Offshore, told how he converted Tai-Mo-Shan into a yawl for the RNSA, to try to improve her sailing performance.

Nonsuch 30: Catboat Without Rival

That vessel was named after Baroness Nonsuch of Nonsuch Park, Surrey, England, who was the mother of King Charles II's two natural sons. Based at Alexander Robertson's Yard, at Sandbank on the Holy Loch, Tai-Mo-Shan was re-rigged to her original plan and cruised by the Woodmans in the West of Scotland every year until 1959. Surrounded by many of his colleagues, friends and neighbors, the Amoeba was lowered into the waters of the Saint Lawrence, where it was blessed with customary champagne christening.
