The Committee - ERIC ED388534: Resources for Law

Description: -

Table J.1. U.S. Constitutional Provisions.
Article I, Section 8. The Congress shall have the Power to levy and collect Taxes, . . . to provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States . . .
Article I, Section 9. No State shall . . . pass any . . . ex post facto law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts.
Article V. The Constitution of the United States can be amended by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress, and ratified by three-fourths of the states. An amendment may be proposed by two-thirds of the state legislatures. The amendment must be ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states.
Amendment I. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.
Amendment IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, . . . papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.
Amendment V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless it be on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be compelled to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.
Amendment VI. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district where the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law. The accused shall have the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining Witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.
Amendment VII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor shall cruel and unusual punishments be inflicted.
Amendment X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.
Amendment XIV, Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to its jurisdiction, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.
