Self

Examination of the physical and electronic properties of the resulting devices shows that the external quantum and luminous efficiencies of the LED are significantly enhanced after the introduction of the dielectric layers. Apart from these materials, cross-linked poly-4-vinylphenol PVP and fluoropolymer were used for the planarization layer and bank layer, respectively.

The use of DP polarography in the elucidation of organic electrode reactions

An ink-jet printing system and dispenser equipment were used to pattern these materials.

Structure Elucidation

The preparation processes of Ni-PMOF and Fe-PMOF were similar to Co-PMOF except that Co-TCPP 132 mg was replaced by Ni-TCPP 132 mg and Fe-TCPP 33 mg , respectively. The preparation of the CCE working electrode was as follows.

Finally, the powder was dried in vacuum at 120 °C for 48 h. Evaporation induced nanoparticle — binder interaction in electrode film formation. The electrodes were also characterized by cyclic voltammetry CV.
