Sudan

Somalia- Since the Somalian Civil War in the 90s, Somalia has been a hotbed of humanitarian concerns and crises. On 6 June, the UAE-based Al Maktoum Foundation sent 37 tons of medical supplies including protective clothing, masks, sterilizers, glucose, and other supplies to help Sudan fight COVID-19. This crisis is being monitored by our analysis team.

Analysis

The number of Syrian refugees is around 1. While work is ongoing to set up additional communal shelters and tents in Um Rakuba in the extension of land allocated by the government, UNHCR has started relocations to the newly set up site in Tunaydbah. Despite losing almost one third of its area following the secession of South Sudan in 2011, post-secession Sudan is still a large country with porous borders and destitute remote areas.

UNHCR support for Ethiopian refugees in Sudan

In addition, the Abu Dhabi Fund for Development donated 136 tons of medicines to the National Fund for Medical Supplies in Sudan.
