And you can also do the reverse. Thus, for example, it would be proper to commence or recommend a prosecution even though a key witness may be out of the country, so long as there is a good faith basis to believe that the witness's presence at trial could reasonably be expected. Prosecutors shall comply, however, with any court order directing the public filing of a bill of particulars.

A

It violates the spirit of the guidelines and Department policy for prosecutor to enter into a plea bargain which is based upon the prosecutor's and the defendant's agreement that a departure is warranted, but that does not reveal to the court the existence of the departure and thereby afford the court an opportunity to reject it.

Their position is the highest political position on earth; their decisions are rge end of the law. § 924 e , as well as Sentencing Guidelines §§ 4B1. Bednarski, supra; United States v.

Introduction

See for a discussion of the requirement for consultation with investigative agencies and victims regarding pleas. For example, the multiple offense rules in Part D of Chapter 3 of the guidelines and the relevant conduct standard set forth in Sentencing Guideline § 1B1. In the typical case, this balance will continue to be reflected by the applicable guidelines range, and prosecutors generally should advocate for a sentence within that range.

In this connection, the prosecutor should weigh the strength of the government's case relative to the anticipated defense case, bearing in mind legal and evidentiary problems that might be expected, as well as the importance of the credibility of witnesses. This is, of course, a threshold consideration only.
