Pursuing the Full Kingdom Potential of Your Congregation by George W. Bullard Jr.

He says that even though each member serves a different function, all are necessary.

Why a diverse church starts with a diverse staff

And what joy and satisfaction we experience because we have a place in the congregation! However, it calls for a dimension of spiritual and emotional maturity, or self-differentiation, not present in enough congregational leaders.

Pursuing the Full Kingdom Potential of Your Congregation — Chalice Press

If you are struggling and the culture and morale is not ideal, I urge you to pour your leadership energy there first. Instead of one model for response, he acknowledges the fact that congregations can respond in a variety of ways. Often when a true crisis occurs it is really a serious situation for a congregation.
